This memo is in response to a request for additional information dated February 9, 2015. The request relates to an amended 2014 July Quarterly Reported. The original report inadvertently omitted a disbursement of $16,250.

When reporting each item on the committee's bank statement, the item in question was shown on the statement as a transfer to another account at the same financial institution as the committee's primary checking account. It was assumed that this was a transfer from the committee's checking account to the committee's savings account at the same financial institution.

The committee's savings account was established to hold funds that were designated for the 2014 general election. Funds for the primary election were held in the committee's checking account. This structure was created to ensure that general election funds were not spent on primary election expenditures.

All deposits, whether by check or online, were initially deposited in the checking account. On a regular basis, contributions for the general election would be totaled, and the appropriate transfer to the savings account would be completed. This resulted in a handful of large transfers from the checking account to the savings account.

Upon discovering that the $16,250 at issue in this request was not a transfer to the committee's savings account but rather a disbursement, an amended reported was filed so that the committee's filings accurately reflect the committee's activities.

Thank you for the opportunity to explain the difference between the original and the amended report.
